AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

Taking the twin-billing as the year's leading golf events in British Columbia are the Willingdon Cup games and the Canadian Amateur Championship.

They are due to be played at Marine Drive in Vancouver in August. The Willingdon is scheduled for Saturday, Aug. 15, and the Canadian Amateur is a week-long event, Aug. 17-22.

The magnificent new Marine Drive clubhouse is expected to be ready in time for the events, and in order to have the course in fine shape—including a tough new 18th hole—members are already foregoing the use of caddy carts.

Scheduled so that it comes just after the big centennial tournament at Portland, Ore., the RCGA expects a larger-than-usual representation of crack U.S. amateurs to take part.

The B.C. Open, which is taking the place of the B.C. close championship, is scheduled for the Victoria Day holiday weekend. It will be played at Point Grey, and it is to be open to amateurs and professionals of the Pacific Northwest. Amateurs must have handicaps of eight or less.

The BCGA is planning a prize fund of $2,500.

The other innovation is the switching of the B.C. Amateur Championship from weekend to mid-week.

Shaughnessy is the venue and the tournament will be played from Monday to Friday, June 22-26.

Reason for the change was stated to be that it was becoming increasingly difficult to persuade clubs to give up their courses for tournament play during summer weekends.

At the BCGA annual meeting last week, however, objections were made to the change in that golfers would have to take a week's holiday to participate in yet another event.

As one delegate put it, "If I am going to take a week off to play in the Canadian Amateur, and another to play in the B.C. Amateur, I am going to have a lot of explaining why I cannot take my wife and family away for a holiday."

Another change is the date of the Ogopogo tournament at Kelowna. It will be played July 7-9 this year so that candidates for places in the B.C. Willingdon Cup team will have a chance of using it to press their claims for selection.

The jinx that has pestered city open buttons holders all season persisted at Victoria Golf Club Sunday when another pair of holders brought their tenure to a decisive close.

Vince Clarkson and Joe Evans of Colwood ran into a full onslaught of birdies and pars from Ron Cush and Alan MacLeod of Gorge Vale to be beaten 7 and 6—the largest buttons margin for a long time.

Cush was the main artist in the massacre. He went on to complete a three-under-par round of 66.

* * *

Holes-in-one have suddenly become the spring fashion at Gorge Vale. Last week Hugh McWhirter holed out in one at the second hole, and on Monday Hugh Fletcher repeated the performance at the 16th.

Fletcher, the left-handed brother of a former Canadian Open champion, Pat Fletcher, used a three wood for his ace at the 180 yards long hole.

He was playing along with John Merriman, Jack Storrie and Denis Gilbard.

The second round of the second winter medal will be played at Victoria Golf Club Sunday.

Leader after the first round at Uplands is Al Reside, who shot 70 on his own course. Second is Laurie Kerr, the Colwood and City champion who won the first winter medal. Laurie carded 71.

Next are Bill McColl of Colwood and Laurie Carroll the Victoria professional, each with 72.

* * *

The congratulations of all Island golfers will go to popular Johnnie Carlow on his election as the 1959 president of the BCGA.

His selection by the directors of the BCGA is a double tribute to the Gorge Vale president in view of the fact that this year the Canadian Amateur and Willingdon Cup games are being played in Vancouver.

* * *

When the Victoria District Committee holds its annual meeting at Gorge Vale Friday evening there will be some doubt as to the composition of the clubs in membership.

The BCGA has divided Vancouver Island into two zones, so that Cowichan and Nanaimo who are members of the Victoria District Committee will be in another zone.

Hilliard Lyle, who sponsored the new zoning plan at last week's BCGA annual meeting, told me after the meeting that the change would not make any constitutional difference to the membership of the Victoria District Committee.

He said that if Nanaimo and Cowichan wished to remain in membership it was solely up to them.

As neither club was represented at the BCGA meeting, the intentions of the two clubs are not known.

The District Committee has a heavy and important agenda, and it is hoped there will be a full turn-out of club delegates.

Grand Prix on Ice

Racing on an ice-covered track isn't as dangerous for these small racing cars as it appears. Tires on the cars are studded with steel wedges to give better traction in the first European Auto Grand Prix on ice at Cortina d'Ampezzo, Italy.—(CPC)

City Tournament Eyed by Totems

All eyes in Victoria's high schools are on the forthcoming inter-scholastic basketball tournament at Victoria High this Friday and Saturday, when Victoria High, Oak Bay High, Royal Roads and Victoria College meet to battle for the Victoria title. Games are at 7.00 and 8.30 both nights.

Victoria High's Totems, flushed with their defeat of two strong mainland teams last weekend, are hoping to follow it up in the coming tournament, and the following weekend in the Lower Island playoffs.

Oak Bay High will host the Lower Island teams for the games Feb. 13 and 14, in which teams from Oak Bay, Esquimalt Belmont, St. Louis College, North Saanich, Mt. View and Victoria High School will compete for the Times Trophy.

In rugby, Victoria High is travelling to Shawnigan Lake today for a double match (both "A" and "B" teams) with their up-Island rivals from Shawnigan Lake School. The Vic High XV has already defeated Qualicum College, and hopes to continue their streak of winning games.

Frostbite Sailors End Series Races

Royal Victoria Yacht Club frostbite sailors completed most of their weekend series races in Cadboro Bay Sunday, and from now on will turn their attention to inter-club and inter-city sailing contests extending into mid-March. The series races began in early November.

In the Davidson class for men, Ned Ashe, winning both races on Sunday, clinched his lead in the series, scoring an average of 1,653 points to Bill McIntosh's 1,176. In the Saturday series Roy Murdock placed first with an over-all score of 1,558 to Ashe's 1,544.

Carol MacLaren, who also scored two wins Sunday, emerged as winner of the series with 1,636 to Sybil Lees' 1,495.

In the Sabot group Chris Scott's average for the Sunday series was 1,650 to Derek Mercer's 1,614, while in the girls' division Karen Robinson scored 1,580.7 to Irene Burnett's 1,580.5.

Yet to be completed are the Saturday series for women in the Davidson class and for boys and girls in Sabots.

England's Test Team Fights Against Time

ADELAIDE, Australia (Reuters) — England was fighting against the clock today in an effort to salvage the fourth test cricket match against Australia.

At the lunch break, England's second innings score stood at 87 runs, with all wickets intact.

All out Tuesday for 240, England followed on and added 43 before the close of play. Australia's first innings total was 476.

But even though England's opening pair of Peter Richardson and Willie Watson were making a determined stand today, their slow rate of scoring—only 44 runs in the 90 minutes of play before lunch—all but wrapped up The Ashes for Australia.

With the six-day match ending Thursday, England faced the near-impossible task of topping Australia's total by a handy margin and then flattening the Aussies in their second innings.

A draw will give The Ashes—mythical symbol of cricket supremacy between the two countries — to Australia. The Aussies won the first two contests in this five-match series and the third was drawn.

The lack of depth in the England batting, which has virtually cost them The Ashes in the five-match series, was again apparent Tuesday. England was all out for 240 shortly after tea, and Richie Benaud, Australia's captain, forced the follow-on. In the 80 minutes left for play, England scored 43 for no wicket in their second innings. With two days to go they are 193 runs in arrears.

England's overnight fourth-wicket pair, Colin Cowdrey and Tom Graveney, batted throughout the 90-minute morning session to add 55 runs and take the total to 170 for three. But Cowdrey's dismissal first ball after the interval began a collapse in which six wickets tumbled for only 18 runs in 53 minutes. There was nothing in the pitch to warrant the slump, it being largely due to inept stroke play.

Australian newcomer Gordon Rorke, 20-year-old fast bowler, started the rout by dismissing Cowdrey (84) and Graveney (41) in a spell of eight balls—his first test wickets. He finished with three for 23.

Leg-spinner Benaud took five for 91, including a deadly spell of four wickets for six runs.

But a last wicket stand of 52 between dour Willie Watson (25) and dashing Brian Statham (36 not out) boosted the meager total.

The scoreboard after Tuesday's play:

College Captures Junior Cage Title

Victoria College defeated Royal Roads cadets, 54-38, Monday at Royal Roads Tri-Services College to win the city junior men's basketball championship.

College won both its games in three 3-team round-robin competition. Navy and Royal Roads meet tonight at Naden to decide second place.

Jack Showers, who played with the College Vikings last year when they took the Canadian junior title, was high scorer last night with 21 points. Thomas scored 14 for the cadets, who got 16 of their points on free throws.

Two games are scheduled tonight at Mount View High School gym.

Vicettes and Naval Vets open the best-of-three senior "B" women's city finals at 7 p.m., followed by a senior "B" men's game between Half Way House and Farmer Construction at 8.30.

Victoria College—Showers 21, Kendrew 3, Gibson 6, McKay 1, Brice 10, Sparks 9, Farquhar 4. Total—54.

Royal Roads—Haas 4, McCarthy 3, Jacob 6, Thomas 14, Inglis 2, Williams 6. Total—38.

Softball To Merge?

A meeting of Victoria's senion "A" and senior "B" softball clubs will be held Thursday night at 7.30 p.m. in the Williams Building, 749 Broughton Street.

All team managers and prospective sponsors are asked to attend the meeting at which amalgamation of the two leagues will be discussed.

McKechie Cup Challenge On

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Reps will challenge University of British Columbia for rugby's McKechnie Cup after all.

The Reps earlier had withdrawn from the annual three-team series because the Vancouver Rugby Union could not find an open date in its tight schedule.

But now a combined Kats-ex-Britannia side will represent Vancouver against the University Thunderbirds for the cup Feb. 14 at UBC stadium.

The B.C. Rugby Union wouldn't accept Vancouver's withdrawal at a meeting Saturday and UBC didn't want a "hollow" cup victory after defeating Victoria Reps 12-5 for the second time.
